

Smith & Nephew Fracture Forum

Savannah, GA

October 25 – 26, 2019

Course Chair

Ed Perez, MD

Stephen Quinnan, MD

Marriott Waterfront

100 General McIntosh Blvd

Savannah, GA

Course Description

This new course builds on the success of the annual Masters Fracture Forum through educational sessions driven by interactive case reviews, small group exercises and panel discussions. Delegates will be actively engaged for their clinical experiences and perspective. Topics to include varying fracture treatment methodologies, prioritization of issues to be addressed, soft tissue management and managing complications.

At the end of this forum, surgeons should better understand indications and treatment options for advanced polytrauma cases in the Level 1 or 2 setting and have a practical plan for how to incorporate these learnings into their practice.

Chair

Ed Perez, MD

Associate Professor Department of Orthopaedic Surgery
University of Tennessee
Campbell Clinic
Memphis, TN

Stephen Quinnan, MD

Assistant Professor Orthopaedic Surgery, University of Miami Miller School of Medicine
Jackson Memorial Hospital
University of Miami Hospital and Clinics
Miami, FL

Learning objectives

- Gain insight into other Level 1 and 2 Traumatologists thought processes in extremely complex fractures as well as complications resulting from these injuries.
- Review indications and multiple treatment options for advanced polytrauma procedures
- Recognize complications and risks for soft-tissue and surrounding structures
- Better understand pre and post-op planning for complex polytrauma procedures

Participant profile

This course is targeted at Fellowship trained, Level 1 and 2 Traumatologists that are five or less years out of Fellowship and manage polytrauma patients. Surgeons should be prepared to actively participate in course discussions and will be called on to do so. This is a highly interactive event between the faculty and attendees to maximize learning opportunities.

Conference Hotel

Marriott Waterfront
100 General McIntosh Blvd
Savannah, GA

Agenda to Follow Soon